A Toast For Paris.

Editor Perry, who was a visitor in this city, this week, in attendance at the Republican convention, throws out the following bouquet about Paris, in his paper, the Sun-Sentinel: "The Elks have about completed a magnificent building that will cost over $30,000. Paris consists mainly of Brother Sweeney, Postmaster; Brother John T. Hinton, Judge H. C. Howard and Brother Craddock, editor. Of course, there are other things in Paris, but nothing to equal those above named.

"The first court-house was built in 1797. It burned in 1872. A new building on the same site was completed in 1874. October 19, 1902, that building burned, and there is now under way one of the most imposing court-houses in the State, which will cost, complete, $160,000.

"Among the people in Paris besides the gentlemen formerly mentioned are Benj. Perry, Mayor, and E. B. January. Don't know what January is, but it seems to me he is some of most every-thing.

"Polk Forsyth lives there, too. And Capt. J. M. Thomas has built a fine museum to be buried in when he dies.

"There is just a little more dignity about Paris than the other Bluegrass towns, but I don't know how to explain it. You just feel it when you associate with the Paris people.

"Paris is one of the nicest places to go to that I have ever seen, but after staying awhile you want to go home—if you live in Winchester."

Speaks For Itself.

The Hon. Judge Clark, of Coldwater, Mich., sent the following letter to the Chairman of the Niles Free Fair Committee. It tells its own story of the excellence of the Robinson organization: COLDWATER, MICH., July 26, 1903.

Mr. Wm. H. Snyder Niles, Mich.
Dear Sir:—I have been requested by Mr. Harkinson to write you relative to the Robinson Amusement Co., and do not hesitate to state that from an experience gained through one season's business and a careful survey of the field, and conferences with other Carnival companies, The Robinson Company occupy the highest position in their line. I found them gentlemanly, generous, and possessed of the sort of business ability that means success not only for themselves but the city or individuals employing them.

Their exhibitions were entirely free from objectionable features, and I took the trouble to visit them the present season and learn the character of their exhibition and found that they were maintaining the same high standard of excellence.

I am always pleased to have an opportunity to testify when I can do so without mental reservation as in the present instance.

Yours, respectfully,
H. C. CLARK,
Director General.
